PLAN SAFETY FOR AIR MANEUVERS

PLANES WILL AVOID ACCIDENTS DURING ARMY EXHIBITIONS

Huge Concentration
Starts Friday At Fairfield

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Aware that danger lurks in the concentration of 672 airplanes in the spring air corps maneuvers beginning at Fairfield, O., Friday, army air chiefs have taken every precaution against accidents, and have provided for almost instantaneous hospital service in case of crack-ups.

In the first place, according to plans for the maneuvers over Dayton, Chicago, New York, Boston, Washington, Philadelphia and other east coast cities, no attempt will be made to "carry-on" in bad weather.

Although weather is an element of danger "all in the day's work," in war time, officials saw no reason for submitting the air corps unnecessarily to danger in peace operations.

"This is not a real emergency," Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aviation pointed out today. "It would be poor policy that called for risking the safety of personnel and equipment, particularly in view of the fact most of our operations will be in the vicinity of thickly populated centers such as Dayton, Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington."

Davison added the rigid plans for the maneuvers call for strictly scheduled operations, and that if bad weather prevents a demonstration the 672 plane formation will not be able to remain in one point to carry out postponed exercises, but will move to the next point with good weather, foregoing demonstrations where the weather prevents.

In case of crashes or other accidents, a specially built "flying hospital" will be on hand for speedy transportation to medical centers.

EX-CONVICT GANG VICTIM

Fatally Shot On New York Street

NEW YORK, May 12.—A man fatally wounded by machine gun bullets in front of a cafe in the Bronx this morning was identified today as Roy Sloane, former Columbia University student who acted as his own attorney to win his way out of Sing Sing prison.

Sloane was mysteriously shot early today when he merged from a cafe accompanied by two women. An automobile passing by the restaurant slowed up slightly and then machine gun fire dropped Sloane.

As the car sped away, the two women with Sloane also disappeared.

Police said they did not know the motive for the shooting. They rushed to the restaurant after he was shot but found it deserted. They were unable to find any witnesses who could give a description of Sloane's women friends.

Police said they learned there were two or three men in the car from which they opened fire on Sloane without warning.

County officials said the boy signed a statement, in which he is alleged to have admitted he hid the bodies of the man and woman in a clothes closet in their home, but insisted that a "man I know" killed the pair.

The bodies of Thomas and his wife, brutally mutilated with a hatchet, were found after they had been dead more than a week. Wilt formerly was employed on the Thomas farm, near Waynesburg, as a farmhand.

The youth allegedly told in his confession that he hid the bodies and attempted to clean up the blood from the kitchen floor on Saturday night, May 2. He said he then took the radio from the home and drove to Carrollton in the Thomas automobile and sold the instrument for $4.

Young Wilt was said to have denied that he stole any money from Mrs. Thomas' pocketbook but stated that he went back to the farmhouse on Wednesday after the murders to get a cedar chest which he said Thomas had given him.

The chest was found at the home of a 14-year-old girl in Carrollton. Wilt had been keeping company with the girl and was arrested there, according to deputy sheriffs.

Mrs. Henry Wilt, mother of the boy, told deputy sheriffs that Ray was mentally subnormal. She said he had been away from home for more than a week when he was arrested.

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Governor George White today issued a proclamation calling for a special election in the first congressional district, Hamilton County, for the purpose of choosing a congressman to succeed the late Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the national house of representatives.

TWELVE KILLED, 35 HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 12.—Twelve persons were killed and thirty-five were injured in the crash of two express passenger trains at Merity on the outskirts of the capital today.

Five cars, including a Pullman diner, were demolished in the crash, which occurred at midnight at Merity Junction, where the train from Rio De Janeiro met the Minas express head-on.

Rescue work was made difficult by the darkness. The Minas train is owned by the Central Brazil Railroad Co. and the Capital train by the Leopoldina Railway Co., an English concern.

CANTON, O., May 12.—Arrested near Carrollton, following a twenty-four hour search, Ray Wilt, 17, a farm hand, today faced charges of murder in connection with the hatchet slayings of Edward B. Thomas, 46, and his wife, Ethel, 44.

County officials said the boy signed a statement, in which he is alleged to have admitted he hid the bodies of the man and woman in a clothes closet in their home, but insisted that a "man I know" killed the pair.

Eugene Ysaye, Famed As Violinist, Is Summoned

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 12.—Eugene Ysaye, the world famous violinist, died at his home here today.

Ysaye had been in failing health for some time. His death, however, came unexpectedly.

The immediate cause of death was heart disease. Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians, who visited the violinist regularly during his illness, was the first to pay homage to his memory.

The violinist is survived by his American wife, the daughter of Dr. Hermann Dinein, a physician of Brooklyn, N. Y., whom he married in 1927. She was twenty-five years his junior.

Miss Dinein was his second wife. He was first married in 1886 to a daughter of the late General Bourdieu de Courtray. She died in 1924.

Ysaye was born in Liege, Belgium, on July 15, 1858. He was educated at the Liege Conservatory and later under Wieniawski in Brussels and Vieuxtemps in Paris.

His distinguished musical career included four years as conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. He concluded this engagement in 1922.

OHIO LEGISLATURE
BEGINS DIFFICULT
TAX REVISION TASK

Financial Crisis Is Facing
State White Reveals

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Warned by Governor George White that the state is facing a grave financial crisis, Ohio's legislators swung their swivel chairs face to face today with the grim task of juggling the state's tax system to provide sufficient funds with which to keep the government machinery oiled and chugging for another biennium.

The job is by no means simple child's play, the legislators realize, and they have before them at least a month's labor over involved and complicated methods whereby additional revenue can be obtained.

The need is immediate, Governor White told the legislators, or "there will have to be substantial curtailments" in the operations of state governmental activities.

And some of them, he warned, "may prove most undesirable from the standpoint of public welfare."

With this gloomy prediction written on the walls of the statehouse corridors, legislators began unwinding the network of taxation proposals woven during the 31-day recess by a special taxation committee.

One by one the proposals will be sifted through public hearings, conferences and committees. It will be the "survival of the fittest" to carve the new taxation system that will provide the necessary "additional revenue."

The governor's message—his fourth since his inauguration—was given to the legislature last night. In it he cautioned against "making appropriations in excess of incomes which may be reasonably expected."

The state's income, due in part to the business depression, he said, "is continually falling behind its necessary expenditures."

There is a grave problem, he warned, whether the state's employees can even be paid regularly during the next month or two.

"The state is being forced, by the business depression, to curtail its expenditures," he said, "and it is continually falling behind its necessary expenditures."

OHIO HUNGER MARCHERS REACH GOAL

Members of Ohio's hunger army are shown marching up the walks of the state capitol at Columbus after their long trek from Cleveland. They are seeking unemployment relief and insurance from Governor George White. Note the women.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Believing prohibition will be a big issue in the 1932 national campaign and facing constant attacks by the wets, the Anti-Saloon League of America today is reviving the organization plan which made prohibition a part of the constitution in 1920.

This plan of organization, involving a large expenditure of money and energy, calls for branches of the league in at least 2,500 counties throughout the nation.

When the drive of the Anti-Saloon League reaches its zenith during the Presidential campaign, it is expected at least 1,000 orators will be speaking in defense of prohibition—from both a political and educational standpoint.

This development of the Anti-Saloon League is also the league's answer to repeated demands upon a part of some dry advocates for a "new deal" and a new leadership in the prohibition movement.

The first move of the Anti-Saloon League will be to "plug up" holes in its state organizations. In the last few years, some states have been without superintendents at times, or two states have been merged under one head.

The second part of the plan is to extend the state organizations into all the counties. There are 3,100 counties in the nation of which 2,585 were counted dry at the height of the political-prohibition movement.

Seventy-five members of a wrecking crew from Marion and Bellefontaine were hurried to the scene to search the wreckage for victims.

The body of the unidentified man was found only after several hours of searching.

Railroad officials declared other trespassers probably hurried from the scene to escape arrest.

Cars piled up and toppled from the track when an arch bar on a car near the front of the train buckled up and collapsed, trainmen said.

The train was west bound from Cleveland to Indianapolis and was made up of ninety cars. The first six and the engine remained on the track.

Seven of the wrecked cars carried cargoes of merchandise worth at least $50,000, railroad officials said.

BARBARA BENNETT IS SERIOUSLY ILL

NEW YORK, May 12.—Barbara Bennett, member of the noted stage family headed by Richard Bennett, was reported dangerously ill today in a New York hospital.

She is suffering from an anemic condition.

Miss Bennett, a sister of Constance and Joan Bennett, is the wife of Morton Downey, stage and radio tenor.

MARCHER STRICKEN

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Steve Kutlase, 34-year-old Cleveland "hunger marcher," was in a serious condition at White Cross Hospital here today after suffering an attack of appendicitis at the state fairgrounds coliseum, where the marchers are quartered.

State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy declared that the customary state checks will be issued today to all state employees.

Tracy added that plans have been made for meeting the next payroll, due June 1.

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Six thousand state employees received welcome news today when officials announced that they will not miss their regular pay checks, due today and June 1.

Although fruit and other crops were reported to be in good condition, the hay outlook is far less bright than a year ago, the summary revealed.

"Stocks of hay on farms May 1 are only 173,000 tons compared with 552,000 tons on May 1 last year and the five-year average of 618,000 tons," it was revealed.

An increase of 14 per cent above the five-year wheat average is anticipated this year, giving Ohio about 37,030,000 bushels for 1931, the report further stated.

FRUIT PROSPECTS "GOOD"

Ohio Trees Show Heavy Bloom; Hay Outlook Not So Bright

COLUMBUS, O., May 12.—Despite heavy April frosts, Ohio's fruit prospects were described as "very good" today by the United States department of agriculture.

"Practically all fruit trees are showing a very heavy bloom," according to information made public in the department's May crop report.

Farm work, according to the government report, "is well in advance of normal although some what retarded by April rains which brought the precipitation for April up to an inch above normal."

NATION - WIDE MOVEMENT IS STARTED TO SPEED PROSPERITY IN THE BUILDING INDUSTRY

NEW YORK, May 12. — For a concentrated effort to bring prosperity to the building industry, on a nation-wide scale, the American Institute of Architects and the Associated General Contractors of America are uniting.

The aid of producers, engineers, bankers, and other factors in the industry will be sought.

The architects and the contractors have appointed committees to work out a plan, which, it is hoped, will rid the industry of the evils which have hindered its progress and stimulate home building throughout the country.

William Stanley Parker, of Boston, member of the planning group of President Hoover's commission on housing, heads the architects' committee. Wilbur P. Creighton, of Nashville, Tenn., is chairman of the contractors' committee.

"A fireside for every family is a worthy objective for Americans," said A. P. Greenfielder of St. Louis, president of the Associated General Contractors of America, in a statement stressing the need for good building design.

"We must coax capital back into the construction field," he declared. Good design, like good construction, insures the investment. Perhaps the architects and contractors themselves may presently decide to join together in financing construction. If we think it is good for other organizations, it may be equally advantageous for us."

All states should issue bonds for public buildings just as they do for public highways, Mr. Greenfielder asserted, pointing out that only four states make this provision now.

"Nearly every state," he added, "needs additional public buildings adequately to house its universities and eleemosynary institutions. Jointly the architects and contractors of the nation can do much toward educating our citizens and politicians with respect to public policy."

"We are not advocates of more government in business, but of more business in government. We believe that the government should employ architects to design buildings and contractors to construct them. Uninterrupted construction throughout the year should also be our common goal, since we have found that it is 'custom not climate' which is mainly responsible for seasonal idleness in the building industry."

It is a long stride from the first log hut in America to the modern apartment of today, but beauty and comfort are no longer considered luxuries. Our residences, whether single or multi-family, should be as beautiful and as harmonious as the architects of America can produce. It is the architect's function to inject beauty into the structure.

"No one prefers to construct an ugly building when a beautiful one can just as well be erected. Contractors have pride in craftsmanship as architects have pride in creation. Both have a common purpose, the beautiful and practical upbuilding of America. In this the opportunities of both are unlimited.

"We Americans rebuild our large cities about every third of a century. Producers are constantly creating new materials or new styles of old materials to keep us all busy modernizing old homes and offices or building new ones.

"Some day American business men will more rapidly follow the guidance of architects and make their business homes as comfortable and admirable as wives do their residences, where men spend only half as much waking time.

"There is constantly increasing demand for construction per capita in America. Whether measured in cubage, or area, there is an increase in every decade. Twenty-five years ago the average city workman left his squalid home with a full dinner pail to spend ten or twelve hours in an ugly factory."

"Today that same workman leaves his modern bungalow with its electric lights, gas stove and porcelain bathroom, in an automobile from a garage attached to his house. He follows well paved streets, recently widened through congested territory, to a modern daylight factory where he spends eight hours, taking time off to go out to lunch."

"In the evening he takes his family to a movie theater and later to a dance hall. The following evening he goes to hear music in an auditorium or visits a branch library. His children are enrolled in a fine community school and for diversion go to an indoor skating rink or a boxing match at the arena. The week-end is spent at some cabin along the river or a hotel in the hills."

"With increasing leisure, as power machinery takes monotony out of many tasks, there is also an enormously increasing demand for recreation facilities. Wives no longer slave from daylight until dark with the drudgery of the household. They patronize the dairy, delicatessen and laundry with their modern structures for wholesale production."

"Canneries and cold storage plants are likewise springing up all over America. We are more thrifty than ever, as our banking institutions indicate, and our grain elevators prove. We anticipate rainy days, and more of us than ever before provide accordingly."

"With an ever increasing field of structural opportunity, would it not seem 'rational' as our European friends designate it, to harmonize the interest of architects and contractors to the greatest possible degree? Ruling a contractor out of a just sum can come under no definition of architecture. Sparring with an architect for an unfair advantage is not construction. Both architects and contractors waste time and money in adjusting, even if amicably, differences which are now bound to arise on any structure. Profits of the building industry are small, almost beyond belief, if the reports of the internal revenue office are a criterion.

"The mortality rate in the industry is terrible and the average existence of a contractor is less than seven years. It is the constant fear by contractors of the enormous contingencies he is asked to take, and the gamble he must throw, which have very largely made him insistent to improve conditions."

"Unrestrained competition in the building industry is an evil. However, practical remedies are gradually becoming effective through local credit bureaus and through the National Bureau of Contract Information."

"Competition has been called the life of trade, but it is the death of many traders. Fair and bonafide competition is fundamental in the construction industry. Any restrictive act is a breach of faith of our association, its ethics and principles. Competition only serves its legitimate purpose, however, when it operates under conditions fair alike to owner, designer, and constructor."

EAGLES TO RECEIVE HUGE CLASS SUNDAY AT DISTRICT MEET

Members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of southwestern and central Ohio will pay tribute to mothers Sunday, May 17, at a district meeting in Dayton, when a class of 2,000 new members of twenty-one different aeries in the district will be initiated as a "Mother's Day" class, according to President O. M. Rittenhouse of Xenia Aerie, No. 1689, F. O. E.

The local Aerie will have twenty-five new members to be initiated in the class, which will be dedicated to Frank E. Hering, South Bend, Ind., a past grand president of Eagles, and editor of the Eagle Magazine, who is known in Eagle-dom as the "father of Mother's Day." Mr. Hering, as a national leader of the fraternity, was largely instrumental in obtaining the nationwide observance of the annual event, President Rittenhouse said.

Although the initiation will be the big feature of the district meeting, the program will also include a street parade with several thousand marchers and fifteen bands, the closing feature being a banquet in the evening at Hotel Gibbons.

"Doctor recommended it," says Miller, of Camden, N. J.

Camden, N. J.—"More than fourteen years ago my doctor recommended Pluto Mineral Water to me as a preventive of constipation," says Louis H. Miller, local resident. "I knew it, of course, as a prompt relief measure, but this was a new use. Ever since that time, my whole family has used it, and we would not be without it for a minute. The treatment is simple—a small dose, in plain hot or cold water, each morning upon arising. It keeps the system always up to par, and helps ward off many serious complaints." Pluto Mineral Water is Nature's own remedy. It acts promptly (thirty minutes to two hours) and cannot grip or injure delicate tissues. Physicians recommend it because they know it is non-habit-forming. Pluto Water, bottled at French Lick Springs, Ind., is on sale at drug stores everywhere, and at fountains.

Announcement has been made that Joe Hagler, popular Xenia trainer, is planning to make his first start of the season at the Marion O. Short Ship meet.

Joe donned his pacer, Ray Henley (3), 2:08, with the hobbles for the first time this year in his last workout and the sensational pacer was driven on his fastest mile to date of the spring training season—2:22.

By wiggling the final eighth in fourteen and one-fourth seconds, Ray convinced Joe and the railbirds that he can still turn on his former great speed.

The latest addition to the Hagler stable is Walter Axworthy.

Steve Phillips, local starting judge extraordinary, whose latest hobby is the barrier device, has been engaged to start the harness horses at the Indiana State Fair, held at Indianapolis the second week in September.

Tom Ferguson, one of the best loved ex-pupils of the O. S. and S. O. Home, is inviting all his fever addicts to make reservations with him by June 6 for attending the seventh annual Hay Fever Reunion at Memorial Park, New Castle, Ind., June 14. An old-fashioned basket picnic dinner will feature the occasion.

Tom is now located in his new shop in the new trades building at the Home and claims his rheumatism has entirely disappeared since he left his old basement shop. And you should see the tawdry he has on display—everything from napkin rings to canteens.

Carlton Lunsford, star Xenia athlete at the University of Cincinnati, again played a leading role in a baseball game between the Bearcats and Denison Saturday, Cincinnati winning, 9 to 5. Lunsford did a great job of relief pitching and found time to hit two doubles in as many times at bat.

The O. S. and S. O. Home track team scored 1 3/5 points in the Class B division of the ninth annual Southwestern Ohio relays for high schools at Miami University Saturday. Kasker tied for fourth place in the pole vault and McKinley placed fifth in the javelin throw.

TO AGAIN CONSIDER
CASE OF FIREMAN

Consideration of the case of William Hanifan, suspended city fireman, is expected to again occupy the attention of City Commission at its meeting Thursday night.

Commission will be required to decide whether to reinstate the former chief of the department or make his temporary suspension permanent.

Three weeks ago the commission was deadlocked on the question, a tie vote being recorded with Commissioner Jacob Kany failing to cast the deciding vote.

Worm Turns! Wood Barbers In Surprise Win

HAVE CLOSE SHAVE BUT NINTH INNING RUN SUCCESSFUL

Victors Put Revamped
Lineup In Field
For League Tilt

The one-game winning streak of the Downtown Country Club and the two-game losing streak of Wood's Barbers were each terminated abruptly at Cox Field Monday night.

After absorbing two beatings in a row, the Barbers came suddenly to life and took their spite out on the Downtowners, winning by a margin of 10 to 9 in a slugging melee.

The Downtowners, in view of the fact the Barbers had lost to Langs and the Red Wings by top-heavy scores, had figured on easy pickings, but they counted their chickens before the proper system of incubation has set in.

Presumably not a bit superstitious about the number thirteen, Wood's collected exactly that number of blows off the delivery of Frame, D. T. C. Club pitcher, who output the Barbers found to be apparently just what the doctor had ordered. Ketter, hurling for the winners, released an even dozen savages.

The contest was a see-saw, Marjorie Daff affair with the lead frequently alternating. The winning run was tabbed in the last half of ninth. With two down, Bob Shaw obtained his third hit of the game, a single, stole second and advanced to third on a passed ball. With the count three and two, N. Murrell was passed, after which brother Dick Murrell, who had previously gone hitless, found a slow ball to his liking and picked it into left field for a clean single, driving home Shaw with the winning marker.

Batting of Mendenhall and Shaw was a potent factor in the Barbers' triumph. Mendenhall getting three singles while Shaw gathered a double and two singles. "Polly" Parrett topped the Downtowners hitting with three bingles, while Eddie Higgins delivered two hits just when they were needed most. He singled twice and on each occasion the bases were loaded.

A double-header—the first of the season—is on the program Tuesday night between Central High and St. Bridget, two American League teams. These two teams were rained out April 21, making a twin bill necessary this time.

WESTERNERS HAVE NOT ABANDONED ALL THEIR DERBY HOPES

But Easterners Look Good; Mate Seems To Be Favorite

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 12.—Despite the favorable attention attracted by the eastern candidates, which arrived yesterday, veteran Kentucky horse fanciers today held out a slight hope for western contenders in the Kentucky Derby, to be run Saturday.

Some of the experts were inclined to play up the chances of such mounts as Inisco and Pittsburgher. Many felt that Inisco had not yet been given a full opportunity to display his wares.

Among other westerners, Sweep All, Boys Howdy, Spanish Play, and Don Leon were mentioned prominently.

However, any western speedster is up against heavy odds in competition with Twenty Grand, Mate, Equipoise, and Ladder. Also to be considered are Anchors Aweigh, Surf Board, and Morstone.

Mate, winner of the Preakness, was being given the edge in most discussions, but Twenty Grand also was looked upon as a most likely candidate in the classic mile and a quarter scramble.

That there will be no more than twelve or thirteen starters in the Derby was practically undisputed here. If the field does not go beyond this number, it will be the most select since as far back as 1922.

The eastern contenders were brought to this horseless capital yesterday afternoon, creating a flurry among the railbirds. Each colt came off the cars in good condition and apparently ready to run.

SPRING VALLEY HIGH DEFEATS JEFFERSON IN RETURN CONTEST

Recording its seventh triumph in eight games this season, Spring Valley High's county champion baseball nine scored a 12 to 0 shutout victory over Jefferson Twp. High in a seven-inning return game on the Valley diamond Monday afternoon.

Compton pitched the first three innings for the champs and Reeves twirled the last four. Each hurler was invincible, Compton pitching hit-less ball, while his successor yielded three blows.

Jefferson, which had lost to Spring Valley by the narrow margin of 4 to 2 in a previous contest, was without the services of its star pitcher, Jasper. Cline started on the mound for the visitors and was hammered for seven runs in the first inning and three more in the second. He was replaced in the fourth by R. Hargrave, who allowed two runs in the sixth.

Chenoweth hit a triple and Turner smacked a double for the winners.

The game was the last for Spring Valley before the team participates in the district tournament at Dayton. Score by innings:

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 12.—An early reaction in the railroad stocks, caused by the New York Central's unfavorable first quarter statement, was the biggest handicap to the market today and with few exceptions the favorites eased off to lower price levels. New York Central returned to the 1923 price level, while Pennsylvania sold at the lowest price since 1926.

FIRE INSURANCE THE BULWARK OF TRADE

THE volume of trade in the United States is estimated at more than 80 billion dollars annually. Probably 90 percent of this is transacted on credit.

The underlying safeguard of credit is Stock Fire Insurance, with more than 150 billions of dollars constantly at risk in the protection of property in this country against fire losses, with an almost equal amount covering hail, windstorm, earthquake and other hazards.

This background of protection against disaster makes commerce on its present gigantic scale possible.

The Silent Partner of Everyone

Few indeed are the activities of the home or of business that are not benefited directly or indirectly by the stabilizing effect of Stock Fire Insurance and the security that it affords.

Stock Fire Insurance is the silent partner in every enterprise—the Bulwark of Trade. It has rendered its service at a cost which on the average has constantly declined for many years.

has also contributed in many ways to the greater safety of life and property. Its sponsors believe that the foremost gain to any individual or community lies in preventing those losses which no amount of insurance can cover.

AIR PASSENGER RECORDS BROKEN

CLEVELAND, O., May 12.—All air passenger records between Cleveland and Detroit and Detroit and Chicago were broken during April when planes operated by the Trans-American Airlines corporation, division of Thompson Aero-nautical Corporation, carried 2,042 passengers, according to Edwin G. Thompson, president of TAC.

The amphibians on the Cleveland-Detroit route carried 1,056 passengers during the month, surpassing by 162 the old record established in September, 1930. The Detroit-Chicago line, which opened on April 1, flew 752 passengers.

Time has acquired a good swift pace and can't slow down," Willa added.

They chatted for awhile of such momentous and inconsequential things, and Dick left early.

Willa remarked, when he had gone, "Well, you walked right into it. I thought you would be home late if you were working with your boss and then going to dinner."

"I wasn't with Foster tonight. But I am not trying to run from Dick. I don't mind in the least. I only wondered why he was here tonight."

"He came to talk with us about some bonds. We have another little nest egg to invest, and we always give our business to Dick."

"Oh, I beg your pardon for being inquisitive. I'm sorry. I just knew that he hadn't been around for awhile, you know."

The incident of seeing Dick so unexpectedly for a few minutes, had disturbed Mary far more than the preceding experience of the evening with Martin. She tried to efface Dick from her thoughts by recalling the words Martin had said—the memory of his earnest face, the surprise that his words had given her. She still doubted his sincerity, somewhat.

Mary had to work late the next evening, so her engagement to dine with Martin was postponed until the following night. She pleaded a headache to avoid going out to dinner with Foster. This marriage of dining with wealthy suitors was too exhausting to be amusing, even, she thought.

Foster looked at her queerly when she declined his invitation, but insisted upon driving her home anyway.

"You should have told me you had a headache when I asked you to work late. Don't try to come to work in the morning. I'm sorry if I imposed upon you."

"Not at all. It isn't much, really, only I don't feel like being entertained tonight. I shall be fine after a night's rest. I need rest more than food."

When he had left her, instead of entering the apartment, Mary slipped around the corner to a little Italian restaurant and had

CHAPTER 37

The three looked up expectantly when Mary entered the studio. All of them knew who it would be; but it was evident that they had not expected her so early. Each of them experienced a different reaction.

Dick looked as if he had been caught in a trap around which he had been playing and knew would snap if he were not careful, yet was surprised when it did. Willa looked apprehensive and ill-at-ease, as if she had been caught at sheltering a spy of the enemy. Ramon glanced at the two significantly, and shrugged aside all responsibility if the explosion occurred at the wrong moment—as men do in such crises.

As for Mary, the sight of Dick with the ruddy firelight shimmering on his handsome face and sleek hair, turned her blood to water; and she leaned weakly against the door after having closed it.

When she could command her voice and force her legs to move—it seemed an hour before she could—she walked toward them and said, "Hello, everyone."

"Well, you are in early, aren't you?" Willa inquired. "We didn't expect you so soon, but we are glad you came. Pull up a chair. Ramon, bring another cup, so I can pour Mary some coffee. Cold outside, isn't it?"

"Is it—I hadn't noticed—yes, it is, I suppose."

"How should Mary know it is cold?" Ramon asked, with an attempt at a jest. "She rides in heated palaces these days, eh, Mary?"

"That's right," Dick agreed. "I hear you were out home last night, too, for a change."

"Yes, I get homesick, even if I do have a nice adopted family right here. I just have to see Mom often. I believe that Tim and Ted grow half an inch a week when I am away. They always measure up to me when I see them. They'll be grown up first thing we know, playing football and then getting into the scuffle of life," she sighed, letting her coat fall from her shoulders.

"Well, you did it, didn't you? I'll wager you grew up faster than those boys will. You had to, I believe, for the rest could take their time about it," Dick observed. He had brought a chair closer into the little semi-circle for her, and held out the cup of coffee Willa had poured.

She thanked him with a tremulous smile, and he must have been blind, not to have seen the light in her eyes that was not a reflection of the firelight.

"And that's what everyone wants to do—grow older just as fast as they can—until they reach a place where they realize that they actually are getting old; then they want to slow up time," Ramon contributed to the discussion.

"Which is about the time that time has acquired a good swift pace and can't slow down," Willa added.

They chatted for awhile of such momentous and inconsequential things, and Dick left early.

Willa remarked, when he had gone, "Well, you walked right into it. I thought you would be home late if you were working with your boss and then going to dinner."

The Theater

England's side of the film question is told by J. A. Thorpe, general manager of British International Pictures, who is visiting Hollywood.

According to Thorpe, little emphasis has been laid on the real reason why pictures do not measure up to the American product. This, he says, is the fact that there are only 2,500 film theaters in England as compared with more than 17,000 in this country.

The English producer cannot afford to spend much money with such a small potential return. He believes that, with a similar budget, the Elstree studio in London could turn out a product comparable to that of Hollywood. He reports the British attitude toward American gangster pictures is one as a gag in a Marx Brothers film. Although he usually paints in permanent oils, he does much of his work in monocolors. He is an excellent artist. He won a gold medal for murals at the San Francisco World's Fair and has had several genuine exhibitions. He has his own philosophy about his film work. While the pictures do not hang in great galleries, they are seen on the screen by more people than have ever visited the Louvre. He isn't complaining.

Joan Castle is getting discouraged. She says she's been at Fox fifty-two weeks, has made a test a week and has played in but two pictures. All the same, she's a comely lass and ought to get a break one of these days. Harking to fan requests Eddie Cantor will sing three songs in his next, "Hocus Pocus."

Twenty Years '11-Ago -'31

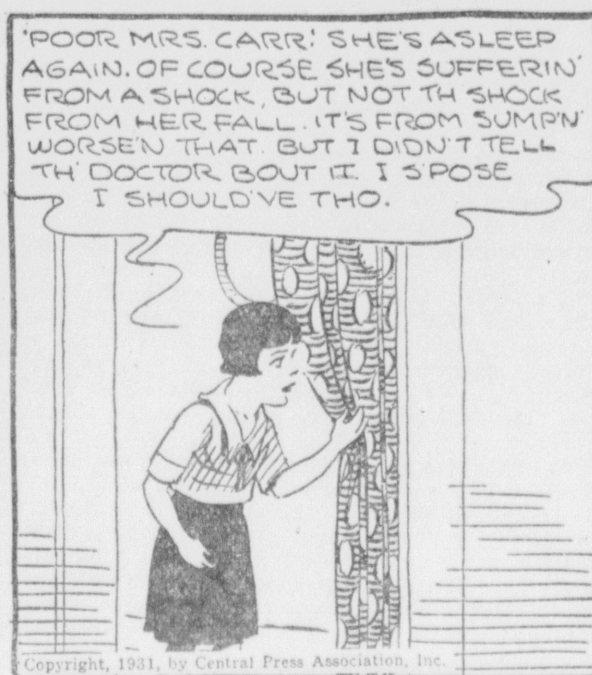

Mr. Herman Corry, of Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, is visiting in Xenia with his brother, Mr. Ernest Corry.

Just a quarter of a century ago Xenia was swept by the worst disaster in its history, the flood of May 12, 1886 which caused the death of thirty persons and made 300 persons homeless.

Dr. Horace Bonner, native of Xenia, now an eminent Dayton physician, was elected president of the Ohio State Medical Association.

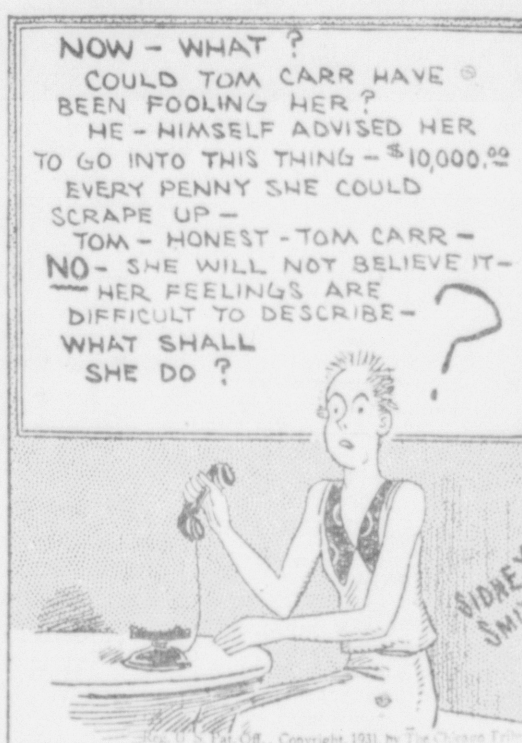

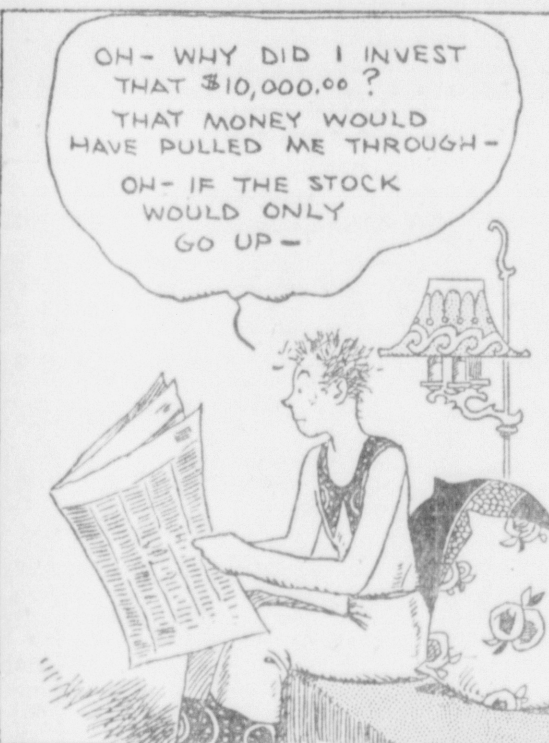

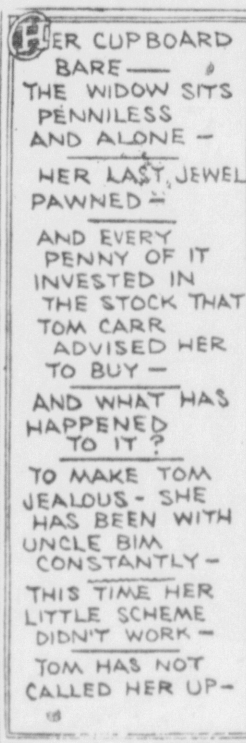

An audience that completely filled the First M. E. Church was delighted by the concert given by the local Biederwolf choir.

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Another Highway Blunder?

(AN EDITORIAL)

The state highway department has been the target of criticism from many quarters ever since the "good roads" movement took root in Ohio more than a dozen years ago, after the advent of the automobile.

Operations of the department in the immediate past are now to be made the subject of a scrutiny by a state senate committee. And now the new highway administration of the state, barely three months old, has laid itself open to justifiable criticism in Greene County by an unusual stupid policy in regard to repaving a short section of the Dayton and Xenia Pike.

When it is considered that this is one of the most-traveled roads in this section of the state, and that the Montgomery County section has been paved with concrete for some years while the Greene County section has had an unhappy experience with less permanent paving methods, the decision of the highway department to re-pave this strip with the cheapest sort of macadam seems, to say the least, a short-sighted blunder.

Considering that the contract was let for a third grade type of macadam, when concrete could be had for approximately $4,000 more, the situation appears to be an almost criminal misuse of public funds. Good business administration of the public moneys would dictate spending $4,000 more for permanent concrete over such a meagre saving for a poor quality macadam which will in a short time, absorb the difference in upkeep and repairs. And if any other motive than good business policy dictated the change, then there is a more serious reflection cast upon the proceedings.

The department cannot claim that it was ill-advised in the matter, either. The commissioners and county surveyor of Greene County strongly urged acceptance of the bid on concrete and abutting property owners, through petitions, expressed a wish for the cement. Criticism of the matter here has been general and pointed.

An interesting side reflection is contained in the fact that two cement manufacturing concerns operate and pay a large tax in this county. Acceptance of concrete would have benefitted them—materially if they obtained the contract to furnish cement or by reflection even if the cement was purchased from some other company.

The cement companies are on the tax duplicate of Greene County for $2,462,600, including real and personal property, and pay an average tax rate in Bath Twp. of $20.60 per thousand valuation. Are home industries to be thus scorned?

Is the highway department poorly or unwisely administered in the new hands in which it has been placed by Governor White; or does this action imply that perhaps the state investigation committee should give some of its attention to the present highway administration?

STANDARD RATING SCALE for Electric Refrigeration

- Is the refrigerator manufactured by a reliable company with proper experience in the electric refrigeration field?
- Has it plenty of food and shelf space?
- Is the cabinet itself well designed, sturdily built and properly insulated?
- Is there provision for the freezing of ice cubes? (Quantity of ice rather than number of cubes, which may be of large or small size, should be taken into consideration.)
- Will the refrigerator constantly maintain a proper temperature for the preservation of foods?
- Can the freezing of ice cubes and desserts be speeded up when the need arises?
- Can this extra freezing speed for ice cubes be had without affecting the temperature on the food shelves? (Too low a temperature on the shelves will, of course, injure food.)
- Is there a place to keep ice cream, meat, fish, game, "quick frosted" foods or extra ice cubes indefinitely at a below freezing temperature?
- Are these various temperatures (a. extra fast freezing; b. fast freezing; c. below freezing for storage; and d. normal food preservation temperature) automatically maintained without any attention from the owner?
- Does the refrigerating unit operate often or infrequently? (The fewer "stops" and "starts" the longer the unit will last and the less it costs to run.)
- How long will the cooling unit continue to cool the refrigerator even though the current is shut off? (Refrigeration should continue for 10 or 12 hours.)
- Can the back parts of all shelves, even the lowest, be reached without kneeling or sitting down?
- Has provision been made for keeping vegetables fresh and crisp?
- Can the refrigerator top be used to "set things down for a moment" while the contents of the cabinet are being re-arranged?
- Will the refrigerator add to the attractiveness of the kitchen?
- Has the experience of users over a long period of years proved the refrigerator long-lived and dependable?
